

The version of the clue linked on the web site is probably an earlier version of the Masters-level clue, leading to a different location. This document gives the correct solution to the actual final Masters clue.

Assemble the 28 paper strips into a photograph and securely tape together the pieces, then turn it over. You will what looks like 6 thick strips that need to be reassembled. Cut these apart and reassemble them into a chick. Complete the maze, then Caesar-shift the letters in the maze (use Rot-13) to get the solution. The Caesar-shift was the only thing different between the Masters and Regular levels.
